Retaining wall atop Chamundi Hill ready

- Land had caved in near Nandi Statue in October 2019
- District Minister V. Somanna to inspect works tomorrow

Mysuru, Feb. 27 (RK&BCT)- The Public Works Department (PWD) has completed the construction of the retaining wall at the portion of caved in land between View Point and Nandi Statue atop the Chamundi Hill. The portion had collapsed due to incessant rains in October last.

Works have been completed a fortnight back and tomorrow, District Minister V. Somanna, will inspect the same at 10.30 am.

The work had been undertaken at a cost of Rs. 49 lakh and no tenders were called for the work as it fell under "emergency works" category. The retaining wall is 35-metre wide and 6-metre high and covers all portion of the land that had caved in.

The landslide was measured as 50 ft. in length and 22 ft. deep. A 10-feet concrete base was set up to withstand the weight of the retaining wall and contractor Prashanth used Raft Concrete Technology with concrete and iron roads for stability.

Also, the works have been carried out to ensure that storm water does not stagnate at the place and arrangements have been made for the water to flow smoothly. The road on top of the retaining wall has been reconstructed and newly asphalted.

As the works were being undertaken, the authorities had blocked the stretch from View Point to Nandi Statue for vehicular traffic and the vehicles were asked to take the alternative route. Usually, vehicles from Nandi Statue take the Uthanahalli Road to reach the city but now as summer is fast approaching, the Forest Department, under whose jurisdiction the Chamundi Hill and its forest comes, has closed Uthanahalli Road.

DCF Dr. K.C. Prashanth Kumar told Star of Mysore that every year during summer they close the road as the stretch is prone to forest fire. People in vehicles throw lit cigarette butts and beedis by the side of the road and this is a major cause of concern as it spreads fire. Also, there have been cases in the past where miscreants have set fire to dry bushes, he added, justifying the Department's move to close Uthanahalli Road.

Even the Police have laid barricades to prevent traffic from Nandi Statue. People can take the newly-laid road but while coming back, they have to take the Tavarekatte Road to reach the city. Police said that the barricades have been placed to avoid traffic jams between View Point and Nandi Statue.

Sources from Siddhartha Traffic Police that has jurisdiction over the roads said that at present, road works are under progress on Tavarekatte Junction (Arch Gate) to Nandi and as such, vehicles face a little inconvenience to move on the stretch. "The PWD will complete the works on this stretch in a couple of days and vehicles can reach Nandi through the new road and return to city through Tavarekatte Road," Police said.

Cop's bike stolen in front of Traffic Police Station

Mysuru, Feb. 27 (BCT)- Beware! A parking area may not be safe enough to park your vehicle even if it is in front of a Police Station. A smart thief stole a bike from a parking lot right in front of the V.V. Puram Traffic Police Station in city. A complaint has been filed at the V.V. Puram Police Station in this regard on Feb. 25.

The FIR (0027/2020) has been registered on Feb. 25 under IPC Section 1860 (U/s-379) for theft based on a complaint filed by Head Constable H.R. Nagendra Murthy.

In his complaint, Nagendra Murthy, a Head Constable attached to the V.V. Puram Traffic Police Station, has stated that on Feb. 24, at 5.20 pm, he came to work from his home and had parked his 2004-model Hero Honda Splendor bike (KA-09-EC-6361) in front of the V.V. Puram Traffic Police Station. He had locked his bike and was attending to his duties at the Station.

Nagendra Murthy has stated that when he came out of the Station at 7.45 pm on the same day, he found his bike missing. Initially he had thought that his bike would have been taken away after the keys got exchanged. Later it dawned on him that the bike was actually stolen and all efforts to locate the bike proved futile, he has stated in his complaint.

The CM was moving to and fro his office in Vidhana Soudha, CM's home office 'Krishna' on Kumara Krupa Road and his residence in Dollar's Colony. Insight into indigenous cow

Milk production in India, reportedly more than 180 million tonnes a year, has earned the country top place among the few countries producing milk in large quantities. Mechanical engineer by training, late Verghese Kurien (1921-2012) and his team are credited with transforming the traditional grossly unorganised milk production and sales of milk in the country into a highly organised industry, making Amul across India and Nandini in Karnataka as bywords for good quality milk and the multitude of tongue-tickling products made of the white gold. Although cows far outnumbered buffaloes in the country, the latter species accounted for more than half of the total quantity of milk produced in the land until the exotic breeds such as Jersey, Holstein, Red Dane and others came on scene in a big way, because of their capacity to produce milk many times more than the indigenous breeds such as Hallikar and Malnad Gidda of Karnataka, virtually leading to disfavour of these latter breeds by players in the sector. Now that some voluntary agencies, including a few spiritual institutions are prompting adoption of indigenous breeds for many therapeutic qualities of their milk and other bio-products, they may not face extinction in foreseeable future.

The issue of cow slaughter raged for a few years before the fury of protagonists, including the late Pejawar Swamiji, tapered off over time. Even as voices are raised to totally ban cow slaughter in public domain on and off, milk production is gaining pace bringing prosperity to the members of co-operatives in the milk sector of the economy.

A note included in the website of the Department of Science and Technology (DST), published in a section of the press a few days ago proposing a research project on milk and its various products has not found favour with a section in scientist fraternity of the country. The project with the acronym SUTRA-PIC, expanded as "Scientific Utilisation Through Research Augmentation-Prime Products from Indigenous Cows" has five themes — uniqueness of indigenous cows; their prime products for medicine and health; agricultural applications; food and nutrition and utility items. The scientists who have called for withdrawing the proposed project have opined that the unique qualities of milk and other products of indigenous breeds of cattle are imaginary and derived from religious scriptures. They have argued that funds to be spent on the project amount to waste of money.

Sources in DST have taken note of the reported disfavour of the project by a section of scientists and rightly responded by saying that concerns on apparent bias or widening the ambit to include more bovine would be evaluated by the scientist committee, expecting the programme could unearth new information and therefore worth pursuing. Features such as indigenous breeds of cows involve no cost to maintain and resist drought may weigh in their favour.

Malaysia: The guests at Malaysian actors Zahirah Macwilson and Aiman Hakim Redza's wedding were probably expecting something special, but none of them could predict an upside down wedding cake dropping from the ceiling. Everyone seems to talk about both on social media and on entertainment news sites is the gorgeous chandelier cake that was lowered down on a small stage for the couple to jointly slice.

The now famous chandelier cake was the handiwork of Lily & Lola Cakes, a Kuala Lumpur professional cake shop, and took about a week to make. Volkswagen's best selling product is not a car, it's a sausage

Wolfsburg: Volkswagen Golf has historically been the German car maker's best selling model, but surprisingly it's not the company's best selling product. That title goes to the uber popular and reportedly delicious VW sausage.

VW has been producing sausages at its car plant in Wolfsburg for nearly 50 years. The traditional wurst is such an important part of the company culture and history that it even has its own car part code, 199 398 500 A. Sausage production at VW began in 1973, and was originally supplied exclusively to company cafeterias to feed its staff. Over time, Volkswagen started selling its sausages at stadiums and in German stores, and people loved them. It's said that because the wurst was originally created for company staff, it is of the very best quality, and it has actually won several awards at national food fairs.

Jumping road dividers: A risky affair

Sir,

Jumping the road dividers (either the metal grills in the past or the present cement blocks) by people of all age groups (young and even by senior citizens) can be seen very commonly on all four roads at the city centre, which have high density of vehicular movement.

Though provision was made at many places in the divider on Sayyaji Rao road to enable people to cross, one can see people crossing the divider by jumping over it. It looks that such people do not have time and patience to walk up to the gaps in the median or the zebra crossing located at K.R. Circle and are trying to cross the busy road, wherever they feel. Thus they are risking their life and posing danger to the vehicle-users.

To avoid this, a metal grill like structure over the cement blocks, similar to the one used by Bengaluru City Corporation very recently to prevent agitators crossing the road (see photo), may be installed. However, these iron grills can be made with wheels, so that it can be moved aside towards footpath during the Dasara period. The authorities concerned may look into this suggestion and install similar structures on city roads, at least near K.R. Circle.

Tigers maul cattle heads; Bisons raid coffee estates

- Man-animal conflict reaches peak in South Kodagu; Forest Department blamed for indifference
- Estate workers refuse to come to work even during peak coffee season fearing for their lives

By Prasad Sampigekatte

A CCTV visual of a tiger that was spotted on Feb. 17 in South Kodagu. Picture right shows an Indian Bison spotted at a coffee estate in South Kodagu.

Madikeri, Feb. 27- Farmers and coffee growers of Kodagu are spending sleepless nights guarding their crops as wild animals continue to raid and destroy farms and estates near forest fringes. While wild elephant menace is considered normal, tigers, leopards and the Indian Gaur (also called the Indian Bison) taking shelter inside the coffee estates in search of easily-available prey and lush green foliage, have made matters turn from bad to worse.

Fear has gripped residents of villages situated on the periphery of the forest after many cattle heads were attacked by tigers. On the one hand, wild elephants have been straying into the villages and destroying crops and on the other, the tiger has been creating fear in the villages.

There is increased tiger menace on the periphery of Nagarahole National Park in Virajpet Taluk, villages on the fringes of Brahmagiri Wildlife Sanctuary, Birunani, Beeruga, Ponnampet, Hudikeri, Harihara, Haisudlur, Bellur Nalkeri, Balele, Kottageri, Nittur, Karmad, Nallur, Kumatoor, Mayamudi, Dhanugala, Siddapura,Valnoor and other areas.

Half-eaten carcasses

Since the last one-and-a-half months, more than 30 cattle heads have been attacked and residents have recovered half-eaten carcasses in their fields and coffee estates. More than 15 cattle heads were attacked with their throat partly bitten by the big cats. Out of fear of human presence in the vicinity, the tigers have abandoned the cattle heads after pinning them to ground.

Residents who have been depending on dairy farming for livelihood are worried over protecting the cows from tigers. The cows that were left for grazing have fallen prey to tiger attacks. Kodagu is surrounded hilly areas and forest and the tiger has been targeting only cows. Camera traps set up by the Forest Department and CCTV cameras installed outside the house compounds have captured the images of tigers venturing inside the human habitat in search of food.

Plight of Coffee estate owners

Fearing the feline, estate workers are not willing to come for work even during peak season when the coffee growers are busy in drying coffee, irrigating their estates and picking pepper from vines spread on trees. These coffee estates are also under a great threat from large herds of Bisons numbering close to 20 in each herd, walking amidst these estates, creating panic among the owners and the workers.

Menace at its peak

The menace that had declined after the natural calamity hit Kodagu in the last two years has now reached its peak making people wonder whether there has been a rise in the wild animal population in the district. The normal methods used by the farmers to scare away the wild animals are no longer effective these days. The wild animals have become accustomed to the sight of fire, bursting of firecrackers and beatings of the drums. They raid the fields fearlessly, farmers said.

In spite of Kodagu receiving good monsoon showers, the lakes, wells and water bodies have not been filled up with the required amount of water. Elephants are not getting enough food inside the forest. As a result, they are straying into villages in search of food.

Huge losses

Elephant menace has particularly increased in Madapura, Soorlabbi, Chettalli, Kodagarahalli, Shanthalli and Shanivarasanthe. Elephants are also camping at coffee estates in Kanoor, Ponnampet, Kumatoor, Kutta, Beeruga, and Kakoor in South Kodagu. The menace is so bad that small-scale farmers have stopped farming activities, unable to bear the losses incurred by elephant raids.

Between 2014-15 and 2016-17 human-wildlife conflict across Karnataka killed 149 people accounting for almost one death every week. Most lives were lost in Virajpet (16 deaths) and Madikeri (12), both in Kodagu district, as per the data from Forest Department from its 36 forest / wildlife divisions. However, the data after 2017 is not available.

Meagre compensation

Farmers and coffee growers allege that they get peanuts as compensation or crop loss. The compensation released by the Department in case of loss of cattle heads is a meagre Rs. 10,000 while the actual cost of a cow ranges from Rs. 40,000 to Rs. 50,000. "We don't get any money for crop loss and even if they do sanction, it will take years to reach us and we have to run from pillar to post," say the farmers.

On Feb. 17, CCTV cameras installed by Forest Dept. captured the movement of a tiger which caused havoc by killing cattle at Birunani, B. Shettigeri, Harihara, Nalkeri, Hudikeri and Bellur. Tiger was seen walking amid trees but the exact location was not confirmed as the cameras have been installed at several locations.

Officials said that the tiger's movements have been tracked to a coffee plantation and the big cat has possibly moved out of the forest. Cages are being placed to capture it and tranquillizer experts will be deployed and the Department was waiting for permission from higher-ups, officials added.

Guruvayur Temple loses its 'Gajaratnam'

Thrissur, Feb. 27 (Agencies)- An elephant credited with carrying the 'Thidambu,' the miniature of the presiding deity of Lord Krishna of Guruvayur Temple for several decades during temple rituals died on Wednesday at the age of 84, a Guruvayur Temple official said.

The elephant named Guruvayur Padmanabhan, who gained the title of 'Gajaratnam' due to his attractive features like long trunk touching the ground and well-carved shape, died at 2.10 pm on Feb. 26, said Guruvayur Temple (Devaswom) Chairman K.B. Mohandas.

He said the tusker had been undergoing treatment for the last few weeks after it suffered swelling on its body.

With the death of Padmanabhan, the number of pachyderms in the elephant sanctuary managed by Guruvayur Devaswom has come down to 47, he said.

Padmanabhan, one of the oldest elephants in the captivity was much sought after during the temple festivals across the State. The elephant was kept at Anakkotta (the elephant sanctuary) located in the vicinity of Guruvayur Temple, which attracts several devotees and tourists visiting the temple town every year.

Padmanabhan was brought to Guruvayur in 1954. He was presented to the Guruvayoor temple by two brothers from Ottapplam in 1954, temple officials said.

Giving shape to proposed War Memorial near DC Office

Deputy Commissioner Abhiram G. Sankar chairing the meeting pertaining to construction of the War Memorial at his office recently. Officials from various Departments concerned and ex-servicemen were present. Picture right shows the Park, next to the DC Office where the proposed War Memorial will come up.

Mysuru, Feb. 27 (KS)- Deputy Commissioner Abhiram G. Sankar has instructed the officials to gear up for the construction of the proposed War Memorial in city.

Addressing a meeting at his office on Feb.25, the DC said that the War Memorial would come up in a Park next to the DC Office at a cost of Rs. 1.41 crore for which the Kannada and Culture Department has released Rs. 50 lakh as first instalment.

He instructed the officials of the Public Works Department (PWD) to complete the tender process before Mar. 20 and take up the construction. Continuing, he said that as per the proposed project, the Memorial structure should be constructed in the first phase and the display of medals and mementoes could be taken up in the second phase after taking suggestions and instructions of the Committee.

He instructed the officials to appoint the Deputy Director of the Sainik Welfare and Resettlement Department, Member-Secretaries, officials of the Kannada and Culture Department, Tourism Department, Horticulture Department and ex-servicemen to the Committee and work in tandem.

Kannada and Culture Assistant Director H. Chennappa, In-charge Deputy Director of Sainik Welfare and Resettlement Department Geetha Mahabala Shetty, Maj. Gen. S.G. Vombatkere (retd.), PWD Officials and others were present at the meeting.

It may be recalled that the District Administration had taken a decision to erect a War Memorial to honour the soldiers who have laid down their lives for the country. This decision is also taken in a bid to instil patriotism among students and youth of the city.

The artist's impression of the proposed War Memorial.

The Ex-Servicemen Association had submitted a memorandum in this regard in 2010 to the District Administration, which had made a search for a place to house the Memorial. Due to some reasons, it was put in cold storage. In 2012, the process to set up the Memorial began once again.

The then Assistant Commissioner (AC) of Mysuru C.L. Ananda (now serving as Additional Deputy Commissioner at Chamarajanagar), who himself had served in the army for 15 years, took up the cause and completed the necessary process and through the District Administration had sent the proposal to the State Government.

It was decided to construct the War Memorial in the five-acre Park to the right of the DC Office. The Park that comes under the District Administration is lying in a state of neglect. As it is in a prominent place, once a War Memorial comes up then it will gain importance. Opposite to the Park is the NCC Office, behind it the Scouts and Guides-Baden Powell School and surrounded by other institutions. Hence, it could attract the students' attention and instil in them a sense of patriotism besides raising their curiosity about the armed forces.

The Memorial in the form of a Square will have the elements of the city's heritage by using Hassan's green stone. The main entrance depicting the three symbols of the armed forces combined will be constructed. The remaining three sides will have the Army, Air Force and Navy insignia separately and will display the army tanks, fighting planes, Navy ships, guns and other weapons used by the armed forces.

Mysuru city incomplete without War Memorial

M.N. Subramani, President of VeKare Ex-Servicemen Trust, Mysuru, has regretted that the War Memorial is yet to see the light of the day despite a lapse of nearly two decades except for some news appearing once in a while. He claimed that the land for construction of a Grand War Memorial was earmarked during the year 2000 itself as per his proposal in the vacant land in front of NCC Group Headquarters, Mysuru, by the then DC Dr. B. Basavaraju.

Speaking to Star of Mysore, Subramani, who is also a Retired Senior Non-Commissioned Officer of Indian Air Force, said that many ex-servicemen are of the opinion that the historical city of Mysuru is incomplete without a War Memorial.

Decoding Mythology

Dr. Devdutt Pattanaik - Author, Speaker, Illustrator, Mythologist

Why Shiva marries

When we read stories of Shiva, there is a constant reference to how he is forced to marry and produce his children, Kartikeya and Ganesha. When Shiva gets married, he comes down from the mountain Kailasa, which is cold, where no vegetation grows. He descends with his wife and moves to Kashi, a city on a river bank, which is warm, wet and fertile, where there are markets, crematoriums and pleasure gardens. It is where life happens, trade happens, business happens. Why is this story being told? Why does Shiva, the hermit, turn into Shankara, the householder? Why does he get married? Why does he come down from the mountain? Why does he (reluctantly) produce children?

This story is repeated again and again because value is given to the fact that while the supreme hermit, Devon Ke Dev Mahadev, may not be hungry, the people around him are hungry. Should he not take care of people who are hungry around him?

We may not want Lakshmi (wealth) in our lives; we may not want Durga (power) in our lives; we may not want income or assurance. However, there will always be people around us who seek this and so depend on us. Should we not care about them? Caring about others does not manifest as an obligation. It reveals empathy. It is obligation only if we feel forced to do it. When it does not come from the heart.

This empathy is what the marriage of Shiva represents. He comes down from the mountain and learns the ways of the world, in order to provide for his children.

Observe how his two children, Ganesha and Kartikeya, are different. If you do darshan of the two children, you realise that they take care of our basic human needs. What are our basic human needs? To manage our hunger and to manage our fear. Ganesha, with his rotund belly, embodies food, affluence, abundance and is closely associated with Lakshmi and therefore, he takes care of our hunger. For him, his mother is not Durga but Annapoorna, the kitchen Goddess. Kartikeya is associated with brawn and stands with a spear.

He is the warlord of the Gods. He protects us, as Durga protects us. So, he is the one who guards us. Thus, together we see that Shiva's children take care of basic human needs. There is an acknowledgment of the need for Lakshmi and Durga, in our lives — for income, as well as insurance.

Shiva, who wants for nothing, is thus enlightened by the Goddess and is made aware of other people's hunger. This concept, of other people's hunger, is not there in Swarga. If you look carefully, Indra is not ever seen as someone who takes care of people. No one goes to him for help as they go to Vishnu or Shiva. He is taking care of himself; he is enjoying himself in the 'Indrasabha', with his Apsaras and the Gandharvas and Somras: he is not taking care of others. Therefore, nobody worships Indra, while everybody worships Shiva.

Shiva's marriage counters Buddha's act of leaving his wife, children and kingdom for the sake of enlightenment, which grants freedom from suffering. This was the Hindu response to Buddhist doctrine, dharma instead of dhamma, family and empathy over isolation and wisdom. While Shiva is a God who is mentioned in Vedic and Upanishadic traditions, so before Buddha's times, his story as husband and father and householder appear only in the Ramayana and Mahabharata, after Buddha's times. Marriage here is a metaphor for social engagement. If Buddha was offering freedom-from-suffering (nirvana or moksha) to the common man, Shiva was offering freedom-within-society (jiva-mukta). Here the point was not separation from relationships (viyoga) but immersion in relationships (yoga). This is the Puranic revolution that enabled Hinduism to thrive while monastic Buddhism waned from the Indian subcontinent.

Ram Singh family dedicated to conservation of traditional art and crafts: Suttur Seer

Mysuru, Feb.27 (YDS&DM)- Suttur Mutt Seer Sri Shivarathri Deshikendra Swamiji said that D. Ram Singh's family has dedicated itself for the conservation of ancient art and craft forms.

D. Ram Singh (late)

He was speaking after inaugurating the Silver Jubilee celebrations of Ramsons Kala Pratishtana in city recently.

Pointing out that the forefathers of late Ram Singh came to Mysuru as migrants from Rajasthan and now, several generations later, this family not only served the royalty but is also working tirelessly to preserve Mysuru's rich heritage, the Seer said that Ramsons was home to many painters and craftsmen.

Noting that an artist can give his best when he is left totally undisturbed, the Seer complimented the Pratishtana for organising the popular annual Dasara Doll show 'Bombe Mane' and bi-annual 'Kreeda Kaushalya' expo.

Maintaining that honouring an artist is like honouring art itself, he lauded the Pratishtana for promoting painters and artists throughout its 25-year journey.

Stating that there was no need for any true artist to get honoured through recommendation, the Seer said that Ramsons Kala Pratishtana had made it a habit to unearth talent and honour artists.

Marking the Silver Jubilee celebration, eminent artist Dr. B.K.S. Varma inaugurated 'Ramsingh's Museum of Mysuru Paintings' at No.285, Kalankur, Zoo Main road.

Speaking on the occasion, he said that art too is a language of expression and this consists of historical, prose and poetical languages. Asserting that the job of an artist is to piece these languages in a picture form, he lauded the Pratishtana for opening a first-of-its-kind Museum for Mysore-style paintings.

Kuldip Singh, an Architect and Town Planner from New Delhi, released the booklet 'Mysuru Chitra Siri' on the occasion. Pratishtana Secretary R.G.Singh and others were present.

The Museum has a permanent display of about 250 timeless and unique paintings, exhibited in 'Parlour style'. For details, call Mob:98801-11625.

'Kodavas are living like aliens in their own homeland'

Rangayana Director Addanda Cariappa makes a fervent plea to save Kodava language, culture

Kendra Sahitya Academy Member and Rangayana Mysuru Director Addanda C. Cariappa presenting his paper at the All India Tribal Writers Conference held in New Delhi.

New Delhi, Feb. 27 (OSR)- Kendra Sahitya Academy Member and Rangayana Mysuru Director Addanda C. Cariappa has urged the Union Government to give Kodavas geo-political autonomy over their 'Codava Land', by including Kodava language under the Eighth Schedule of the Constitution and granting them the micro-minority community tag for a better future and a secure homeland.

He was presenting a paper at All India Tribal Writers Conference here on Feb. 24. The Conference dwelled ways and means of reviving tribal languages. Speaking at length about Kodavas and tribalism, Cariappa said that it was essential to revive and rejuvenate tribal languages like the Kodava language (Kodava Thakk) that is under threat of extinction, thanks to lack of Government support.

"With the onslaught of modern ways of life, tribal languages are suffering the most. Many tribal languages do not have their own script and the challenge with those languages is that they do not have their indigenous scripts and are not recognised in the Eighth Schedule of the Indian Constitution. Hence, languages like Kodava Thakk and many others which form the cultural connections among a sizeable population face the danger of disappearing as just household native tongues," he said.

197 languages in India are endangered

Today, Kodavas are feeling insecure and are living like aliens in their own homeland. "Our rich culture and heritage have not been given due recognition owing to many oversights. We have been requesting the Governments to give us the due space in Eighth Schedule. To the United Nations, our plea has been that the UNESCO should include 'Codavaame' (Codavaism) as a traditional minuscule micro-minority Kodava tribe in Karnataka, on the list of intangible cultural heritage," Cariappa opined.

In the past, a UNESCO report had revealed that 197 languages in India are endangered and five languages are almost extinct with a handful of people speaking them in different tribal communities. Once they are gone, the language dies a natural death. And with that, a whole discipline of indigenous culture, knowledge and history is wiped off the face of earth forever, he explained.

Languages dying slow death

"There has been a demand for about 46 languages including Tulu and Kodava Thakk to be included in the Eighth Schedule. But Governments so far have not paid heed to this request and as a result, many tribal languages have died a slow death. According to an estimate, nearly 1,300 tribal languages exist in India alone. They were born in the lush greenery of forests and are constantly disappearing as the forest cover is being plundered in the name of development, urbanisation and progress," Cariappa regretted.

Highlighting the plight of writers of such languages, he said, "When the language itself gets buried with the passing of time, what would the writers do? A whole community loses its identity when a language disappears. Hence, someone has rightly said "f you want to finish a community, all you need to do is to kill their native tongue."

Making a fervent plea to include Kodava Thakk in the Eighth Schedule, Cariappa said, "When a nation's Constitution honours a tribal language with due recognition, they are used as mediums of learning, education and instruction. Languages can be saved from extinction when they use the existing scripts of other languages that are in their ecological surroundings to survive and thrive."

Mysuru, Feb.27 (PM&DM)- The alleged remarks made by Vijayapura BJP MLA Basanagouda Patil Yatnal terming centenarian freedom fighter H.S. Doreswamy as a 'fake freedom fighter' and 'an agent of Pakistan', echoed in the Mysuru City Corporation (MCC) Council meeting which began at the MCC Hall here this morning.

Prior to the discussion of the agenda, Corporators from the ruling combine pressed for official recording of the proceedings of the last Council meeting held on Jan.30, following which Mayor Tasneem declared that it has been done. Industrialists demand good roads, industry-friendly KIADB policies

MCCI submits memorandum to Minister

Mysuru, Feb. 27 (BCT)- In an effort to give industrial growth in Mysuru a big boost, the Mysore Chamber of Commerce and Industry (MCCI) presented a memorandum to Large and Medium Scale Industries Minister Jagadish Shettar, who was in city to interact with members of various industrial bodies at the Government Guest House in Nazarbad in city on Feb.23. The memorandum highlighted specific long-pending issues which has hindered industrial progress and development of the district.

Stakeholders said, though the quantum of investment was small in Micro, Small and Medium Enterprises (MSMEs) and Small-Scale Industries (SSIs), the jobs generated were more in number and hence they should be encouraged. The main demand of the stakeholders is that the Government must order the Karnataka Industrial Area Development Board (KIADB) to reserve 50 percent of KIADB industrial plots to MSMEs and SSIs.

Earlier, the KIADB used to allot at least 60 percent of the industrial plots to MSMEs and remaining 40 percent used to be allotted to medium and large industries. However, KIADB last year decided to allot only 10 percent of developed plots to MSMEs, hindering their growth.

Highlighting infrastructural issues, the memorandum stated that some of the approach roads to industrial areas and estates are in such a pathetic condition that it is near impossible to transport goods on these roads. Industrialists appealed to the Minister to direct KIADB to re-asphalt the approach roads.

MCCI delegation, led by its President A.S. Satish, felicitating Large and Medium Industries Minister Jagadish Shettar, at the Government Guest House in Nazarbad on Feb.23, as Immediate Past President, Federation of Karnataka Chambers of Commerce and Industry (FKCCI) - Bengaluru, Sudhakar S. Shetty, MCCI Vice-President N.H. Jayanth, Members K.B. Lingaraju and C.K. Ganesh and former MLA Vasu, who is also the Chairman of Mysore Industries Association (MIA), look on.

Land and plot rates fixed by KIADB and Karnataka State Small Industries Development Corporation (KSSIDC) needs drastic reduction to make them industry-friendly and open to common people. The method KIADB is following in its internal calculations while arriving at final land cost, especially when additional small piece of land or strip by the side is added and the final Sale Deed is approved, is unjust and exorbitant, the memorandum stated. "KIADB is charging penalty unjustly for the delay in project implementation even though the delay is due to legal and possession hurdles of the allotted land for which entrepreneurs are not responsible but are made to suffer. Such cases need sympathetic consideration and penalty must be waived with grant of more time," it stated.

Large and medium industries in the manufacturing sector located in Bengaluru, especially from automobile, electronic, electrical, textiles and food processing sectors, must be encouraged and convinced to set up plants in Mysuru so that the entire region grows in terms of industries.

Apart from the above demands, MCCI has demanded special encouragement to local Geographical Indication (GI)-tagged industries. Associations or Special Purpose Vehicles must be hand-held and encouraged for establishing Centres of Excellence and Innovation at Industrial Areas of Mysuru and Nanjangud, the memorandum said. The memorandum also requested the Minister to take steps for acquisition of land for the extension of Mysore Airport Runway so that the runway is capable of handling larger planes than the present ATR planes.

The Minister was urged to execute the Electronics Cluster proposed in Mysuru without any further delay and designate local industries as stakeholders in this cluster.

World Hearing Day on Mar. 3: Awareness at JSS Hospital

Mysuru, Feb. 27- The 3rd of March every year is celebrated worldwide as World Hearing Day. The theme for the year 2020 is "Hearing for life. Don't let hearing loss limit you'! This has been designed with the aim of spreading awareness about the effects of deafness and the various means to overcome this disability.

Hearing impairment can occur at any age group both in children as well as adults. Childhood hearing impairment could be due to several reasons. Every year, thousands of children are born deaf. If undetected , this can result in impairment in speech

Hence, it is of utmost importance that congenital (present from birth) hearing loss is diagnosed at the earliest and corrected before the age of two years for proper development of the child.

JSS Hospital in city has implemented Universal Newborn Screening Programme that screens every child born for hearing loss within 48 hours of birth. This helps to screen children who could possibly be suffering from deafness and then they can be subjected to further tests such that every child born deaf can be identified at the earliest and can be streamlined for treatment.

To commemorate World Hearing Day, the ENT Department of JSS Hospital has organised the following activities:

1. Drawing competition for School children on Mar.1 based on the theme of hearing loss at the 1st Floor, JSS Institute of Speech and Hearing, Agrahara.

2. Public awareness and evaluation of hearing loss programme on Mar.3 at JSS Hospital premises.

3. School health programme to educate and raise awareness among school going children and their parents about the need to detect and cure hearing loss.

4. Radio talk on the topic of childhood hearing impairment and the need to correct it.

5-time Major winner

Sharapova retires at 32

Moscow, Feb.27- Five-time Grand Slam winner Maria Sharapova, one of the world's most recognisable sportswomen, yesterday announced her retirement at the age of 32.

"Tennis - I'm saying goodbye," Sharapova said in an article for magazines. "After 28 years and five Grand Slam titles, though, I'm ready to scale another mountain — to compete on a different type of terrain."

Sharapova burst onto the scene as a supremely gifted teenager and won her Grand Slams before serving a 15-month ban for failing a drugs test at the 2016 Australian Open.

The Russian former world number one's ranking is currently 373rd.

Sharapova has hardly played in the past year because of long-standing shoulder problems. When she did play she lost as many matches as she won and was dumped out in the first rounds at Wimbledon, the US Open and, most recently, the Australian Open in Melbourne.

Sharapova shot to fame as a giggly 17-year-old Wimbledon winner in 2004, the third-youngest player to conquer the All England Club's hallowed grass courts.

WORD OF THE DAY

Misbegotten

Pronunciation: miss-bih-GAH-tun.
Meaning: Having a disreputable or improper origin; contemptible, deformed.
Origin: In the beginning, there was the Old English begiten, and begiten begot the Middle English begotyn, and begotyn begot the modern English begotten, and from thence sprung misbegotten. That description may be a bit flowery, but it accurately traces the path that led to misbegotten. All of the Old English and Middle English ancestors listed above basically meant the same thing as the modern begotten, the past participle of beget, meaning "to father" or "to produce as an effect or outgrowth." That linguistic line brought forth misbegotten by adding the prefix mis- (meaning "wrong," "bad," or "not") in the mid-1500s.
Example: The city's misbegotten attempt to install new traffic signals at the busy intersection only caused greater confusion for motorists.

THE ODD WORD

Bactericide

A substance which kills bacteria.

PHRASE OF THE DAY

Back-seat driver

Meaning: Someone who criticises from the sidelines.
Origin & Example: This comes from the annoying habit of some people of giving unwanted advice to vehicle drivers. It emerged in the USA in early 20th century, as motoring was becoming widespread. The figurative and derogatory meaning of 'back-seat driver' is unambiguous in this from The Bismarck Tribune in December 1921:
"A back-seat driver is the pest who sits on the rear cushions of a motor car and tells the driver what to do. He issues a lot of instructions, gives a lot of advice, offers no end of criticism. And doesn't do a bit of work."
